THEATHE.-Monday Eve one of the most attractive bills of the season will he offered for the benefit of all Theatre goers, and admirers of the drama. The beautiful comedy of "A Husband at Sight," with a strong cast, will be performed for the first time in several years. Also, the ever popular "Rough Diamond." Between, the pretty Miss Constanting will dance. This bill we doubt not will ttract a full auditorium

Col. GILLEM is untiring in his efforts to discharge his duties as Provost Marshal, one of the most laborious and irksome offices that an officer is ever called on to fill. Under his administration liquor is becoming a decided rarity. And in behalf of the army, the community, and the country, we "invoke him to persist in his efforts.

The Republic now demands the best use of the best talents of all its citizens; none are so high or so low that they can refuse this demand, without committing a great sin.

Isham G. Harnis announces that he is unable to get arms for the newly organized State forces, all available being appropriated to the newly released pris-

How much betier than JEFF. DAVIS or J so. B. FLOYD is the officer or the soldier, who, when the life of his country is at stake, wastes his powers in sloth, and debauchery? And yet, sad to say, there are some who commit this great offence.

The Rebel Government is greatly troubled at the immense circulation of counterfeit Confederate notes put in oirculation by the Yankees; there being $100,000 of it circulating in Atlanta-We don't see why the rebels should take offence at that, as the counterfeit is worth just as much as the genuine. However, we knew a quack once who made brown bread pills, and had written on his pill-boxes: " Bessare of Counterfeita!"

We feel very confident that in a very brief space of time there will be wailing and cursing in the rebel army which has recently entered Kentucky. Nothing can avoid it but a precipitate and inglorious retreat; and that they cannot afford to make, as it would be soicide.

---It seems to us that shoulder-straps and gilded buttons would be live coals of fire on the persons of those miserable officers who, being entrusted with the honor of their country and the lives of soldiers, and drawing large salaries, idle away their time in bar-rooms, around hotels, in billiard-saloons, and on the streets, instead of drilling their commands, and looking after the wants of their men.

The rebels are evidently sorely disappointed at the stubborness of our troops, in not quietly evacuating Nashville. Poor Fornest has been hanging off at a respectable distance, longing for the desertion of the place, so that be could re-enter and establish a fare-bank, or a sweat-cloth; but alas! he is disappointed, and with him a large number of fair and unfair rebels. We are inclined to believe that the guerrilla will soon be brought in very reluctantly on his part | the Governor may direct.

CINCINNATI, Sept 10-3 P. M.-A train of thirty ambulances with a flag of truce left here yesterday afternoon for the use of our wounded at Richmond. When twolve miles distant they were halted by the enemy's pickets, and the officer in command taken before Gen. Heath, who informed him that the train could not pass as he was not receiving flags of truce at present. Appeals were then made to Kirby Smith, and the ambulances were allowed to proceed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 - The Times publishes Gen. Pope's report of the recent battles in Virginia. He severely censures the conduct of Fitz John Porter, but speaks in the highest terms of the zeal. and energy of Generals McDowell, Banks, Reno, Heintzelman, Hooker and Kearney. He attributes the disaster of Saturday jointly to the bad conduct of Porter and the failure of McClellan to send him supplies. On these points he says:

I do not hesitate to say that if the corps of Porter had attacked the enemy in flank on the evening of Friday, as he had my written orders to do, we should have utterly crushed Jackson before the forces under Lee could have reached him. Why he did not do so I cannot understand. Our men, much worn down by hard service and continuous fighting for many previous days, and very short of provis-ions, rested on their guns. Our horses had no forage for two days. I had telegraphed and written urgently for rations and forage to be sent us, but on Saturday morning before the action was resomed, I received a letter from Gen. Franklin, written the day before at Alexandriu, stating to me that he had been directed by Gen. McClellan to inform me that rations and forage for my command would be loaded into the cars and available wagons as soon as I would send a cavalry escort to Alexandria to bring them up. All hopes of being able to maintain my position, whether victorious or not, vanished with this letter. My cavalcy was utterly broken down by long service in the face of the enemy, and bad as they were they could not be spared from the front even if there had been time to go back, thirty miles to Alexandria to await the loading of trains. At the time this letter was written Alexandria was swarming with troops, and my whole army interposed between that place and the enemy. I at once understood that we must if possible finish what we had to do that, day as night must see us behind Bull Run if we wished to save our men and animals. PHILAPELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The Inquirer of this city publishes a letter from Elli-cott's Mills, Md., dated yesterday, which says that on Monday the rebels captured two telegraph operators. Rebel pickets are within four miles of the Mills, and a large force under Gen. Fitz Hugh Lee, estimated at from 5,000 to 20,000, is at New Market.

Billings Horbart, a noted secessionist, is in custody at the Relay House. He moved off during the night. The rebels are in a state of great destitution. Many of them are shoeless, and are only kept in the ranks at the point of the bayonet. Philiadeliphia, Sept. 10.—Major General Heintzelman has been appointed to the command of the forces for the defence of Washington south of the Potomac. The friends of Brigadier General Mansfield say that he is to be appointed a Major General of Volunteers. A special despatch to the Bulletin, from Harrisburg, represents that all is quiet there. No rebet movements had taken place towards Hagerstown. A force of our cav-alry, under General McClellan, captured Barnsboro, in the rear of New Market,

The operator at Hanover says that refugees from Frederick report that the rebels are entrenching themselves on the Monocacy, and that they have blown up the iron bridge over the river.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10 .- The National Intelligencer, of Washington, says the rebels are falling back from General Mc-Ciellan's front, which has advanced to within six miles of Poolesville. Reports from York of vesterday say the rebels have not entered York county, but were represented to be at Emmettaburg, on a line not more than eight miles rom Gettysburg. They had stationed their pickets six miles from Union Bridge. There are no signs of an approach of the rebels toward Westminster Washington, Sept. 10 .- The party who left here on Saturday under a flag of trace for the body of Gen. Bohlen returned with it to Washington last night. were the recipients of the kindest attention from the rebels. HARRISDURG, Sept. 10 .- Guy. Curtin has issued an order in view of the danger invasion now threatening our State by he enemies of the Government calling on , all the able-bodied men of Pennsylvania o organize immediately for the defence the State, and to be ready for marching orders upon one hour's notice and proceed to such places of rendezvous as character to the effect that the rebels under Jackson, entered Hagerstown in force this afternoon. The operator left while the rebels were entering the town. Arrangements for the defence of this city are going forward, and the order of the Governor, issued to-day, is considered a just, proper, and precautionary measure. It may be the forerunner of an actual call probably soon to be made. There is nothing later from Hanover or Washington, Sept. 9.—There is no doubt that the rebels in large force are between Dranesville and Leesburg toject. Beyond these facts, but little if anything can be learned.

There is nothing reliable from further up the Potomae. MEMPHIS, Sept. 8.—In the Confederate Senate on the 3d inst., Henry Foote, of Tennessee, introduced a proposition to extend sequestration to citizens refusing o take the oath of allegiance to the Confederate Government. On the 4th, pending the bill to extend the provisions of the conscription act to persons between the ages of 35 and 45, Yancey offered a Dispatches dated Chattanoogs, September 4, state that the Federals have evacuated Huntsville.

We are glad to witness a very decided improvement in the deportment of a few soldiers who were disposed to indulge in dissipation a week or two since. Gen. TROMAS is determined to preserve discipline, and we are cheered to observe that the soldiers have the good sense and patriotism to lay aside all disorderly sonduct at a time so momentous as this, when order and discipline are necessary to the success of the army. Soldiers who are not submissive to discipline can expect nothing but defeat and disgrace when they meet the enemy. And officers, in the name of our beloved country, we invoke you to set a good example to your men. Example will do more than precent.

[Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.] The Battle of Chantilly-Why it was Fought --- Incidents of Stevens's Death -His Last Words.

Washington, September 5, 1862. The same hour that Gen. Stevens was killed in battle, a number of prominent gentlemen, filling influential positions, were in consultation in this city and in other parts of the country, with a view of having him assigned to the command of the Army of Virginia. Successive manifestations of incapacity during a year of war have caused thinking men to cast about for a leader. These gentlemen had fixed upon General Isaac I. Stevens as the man. His splendid conduct in the battles of Friday and Saturday just directed attention to him-it was remembered that in pure capacity he had always been first, having taken the honors at West Point with searcely an effort, and though old political enemies, these men resolved to ask that he be given a leading command-while they were consulting he led on his men and fell. The importance of the engagement of Monday night, which lost to the country Kearney and Stevens, has not been generally understood. The truth is, it was not a mere episode made noteworthy by the death of two such leaders, but a crisis where nothing but decision and sacrifice on the part of those leaders availed to prevent disaster. The army was retreating from Centreville. The battle was fought against a rebel force that penetrated five miles nearer Washington than our rear and was moving to strike upon the flank. Gen. Stevens' division, the advance of Reno's corps, was on the left of the road taken by the trains, and intercepted the nemy. He saw that the rebels must be beaten back at once, or during the night they would stampede the wagons, and probably so disconcert our retreat that Recruiting Office, No. 100 High St. the last division would fall-a prey to their main force. He decided to attack immediately, at the same time sending back for support. Having made his dis-positions, he led the attack on foot at the head of the 79th (Highlanders). meeting a withering fire, and the Color Sergeant, Sandy Campbell, a grizzled old Scotchman, being wounded, they faltered. One of the color guard took up the flag, when the General snatched it from him-The wounded Highlander at his feet "For God's sake, General, don't cried. you take the colors; they'll shoot you if you do !" The answer was, "Give me the colors! If they don't follow now, they never will;" and he sprang forward, crying, "We are all Highlanders; fol-low, Highlanders; forward, my Highlanders!" The Highlanders did follow their Scottish chief; but while sweeping forward a ball struck him on his right temple. He died instantly. An hour afterward, when taken up, his hands were still clenched around the flag-staff. A moment after seizing the colors, his son-Capt. Hazzard Stevens, fell wounded, and cried to his father that he was hurt. With but a glance back, that Roman fa-"I can't attend to you now, Hazzard. Corporal Thompson, see to my
